The Great Spring Millinery Emporium. The great millinery establishment of Stewart, Doherty & Co., at No. 269 Main street, is now the center of attraction for fashionable circles. It could not be otherwise, for the ladies in charge of the various departments are the most accomplished artists to be found anywhere within fashions' realm. Familiarity with the tastes and styles of our ladies render their opinions sought after in matters of adaptability of fabric and color. Their styles are received direct from Paris, and are elaborated with exquisite taste and judgment. The wholesale department is kept fully stocked, and their facilities for supplying country dealers and city merchants are unsurpassed by any house in the southwest. Their stock of trimmed and untrimmed asts, millinery and fancy goods embraces every grade, and their prices for all grades of goods in their line are sure to meet the demands of trade. Our lalies and visiting friends should certainly
